

My plasterite story

In the past , in the days of the old forum, OrgonitePlus.Net, with the pioneer healing club I posted a long story about my experiences with Plasterite.

Plasterite is the only form of life force energy aka tools of light I use,

It is my favorite Tool Of Light. It is my only tool of light.

I do not possess any other sort of orgonite, no MetalResin pieces, no CB , nothing.

I like all tools but I prefer the natural approach.

That story is no longer available.

Like some other things from that forum.

Anyway, to make a long story even longer ☺

maybe it is a good idea to tell about my story , what I experienced with selenite life force energy.

As I became more aware, this “waking up” thing, becoming more aware of what s really going on
And the rest of it, I quickly reached a point to search for possible solutions.

Thereby entering the field of Orgonite.

Did some studying of it all, that was years ago, the time where the only thing around were and still are the Dcroft style stuff, the TB, HHG, CB, etc.

Amazed as I was by the financial aspect of it, the artificialness, the technical hoopla, etc, the totally unnatural approach, the whole orgonite field in my view at least, seemed like some sort of business that has a nice look but is more into making bucks than into anything else at the end of the day.

Although I knew it does function in its goal, creating good energy, healing energy etc, and I was at that stage already making plans of building my own CB which turned out to be more complicated, expensive and troublesome as expected as one needs a lot of tools, materials, copper pipes, special crystals, etc ...etc... so basically I was still in the process of gathering my building materials when I went deeper in searching into possible alternative solutions, more natural, more having a good feel to it, at least that is how I see it but everyone has to decide for themselves in that opinion.

Found out about plasterite , this mix of Plaster of Paris together with good sand, crystals, salt, etc
To be a possible solution. Also was surprised by the amount of disinformation spread about or surrounding that topic. The system went overboard in tackling this method. That was what actually drew my attention even more to using Gypsum based solutions.

The length the system went on trying to “debunk” it was astonishing.

Although personal reports did manage to come through with positive results meanwhile on the main forums - the resin forums/shops- it was totally overruled and attacked.
No limits there, really no limits, no respect, all went out the windows when the word came up.
Even folk who did orgonite for years and touched the plaster were ousted, banned immediately without pardon or remorse in order to shut the herd up.
You know to make an example of them , usually works quite well on people who cannot think
For themselves, most people unfortunately. Scare them into submission.

Now I was really getting interested in plaster ☺ !!

So either the plasterite is a big joke or it really rocks and they don't want anyone to play with it
Or at least not too many folk as it is a method that provides freedom and insight.
Two things the system is not really fond of to provide to the people.
Big Time.

Around that time I came across the old forum mentioned above and started to see the bigger picture of this selenite method in more depth.
This plaster thing there took off big time, quick results after some start up processes in finding the right materials and amounts, techniques, etc etc
Also quickly became aware that the selenite way is a more spiritual way in doing something about it all, it is different than other methods in that respect.
It is also good energy, but completely different in feel and reach.

Actually the old forum was established by metal resin folk who were trialing this stuff and therefor got kicked out of all other groups, well it shows us the "truth movement" community is certainly not there yet but that does not really come as a surprise eh ?

When there is money involvedthing tend to get hmm

Of course I do admit that at that early stage I did not really believe in any other method Except metal resin, there was so much misinformation and disinformation going concerning the plasterite topic from other sources that I was, like anyone else, contaminated with it.
To be honest, going plasterite was a huge mental hurdle to get over
By the brainwash put out there

But results came out over and over again, bigger and better as better mixes and techniques came Into being and were tested by folk all over so hmmm there must be something with it regardless of what "mainstream" keeps telling us.
At that time started talking to some folk who were doing it and tested a small plaster based object and it was a really pleasant surprise, big energy , amazing, unbelievable.
So it works
Ok, nice to know

But it was a very small piece, like a TowerBuster they call it in Resinland
You can hold it in your hand, apple size.
That little plasterite thing, just made of gypsum, salt, sand, and some gemstones , crystals, punched a blue hole in the sky and doing the healing up to say 2 miles or so.
Not bad for a start.

Results clearly noticeable and visible even for an untrained eye or soul like me in that period.
Basically all the orgonite effects were recorded, how beneficial it is to plant life, animals, relationships, etc etc. the whole neighborhood improved one way or another.

Had it for a month or two and thought maybe I can make it myself, as by now I had the information from valid sources on how to approach it all. As that also posed a problem in the past as no formulas & recipes were available.

Thoughts like what would happen if I fill a serious mold or template with this energetic mix ?

You know, like something big, ideally suited for that purpose, silicone, flexible, strong, easy to get, so I made four big cones , 30 pound each , that is 15 kilo per cone, that is not bad.

Took me a week or so to adjust to that amount of energy, completely overwhelming.

Serious results.

Of course one does not need to have that much, one cone would do.

That's really more than enough.

Major positive changes on so many levels occurred right after that.

If one does create a serious energy field or protective canopy one might see some helicopters appear rather quickly to check it out.

Usually within 48 hours.

But don't worry Plasterite cannot be exactly located but the choppers cannot be avoided , you will see them coming over the gifted terrain.

This inability to precisely locate the source of the energy is to my understanding

Due to the total lack of metals being used in the object.

That is just an assumption.

Only plasterite is used here because I do want to gain honest results.

Don't want to mix it in with other tools of light as that effects the outcome and honesty of the project.

Using this method for a long period and still works like a charm, so....what can I say.

It is as it is.

I know about the bad things put out there to scare folk away, like they stop working after a month or whatever or become Dor collectors and all that stuff.

All rubbish but it puts most folk of the subject as we have noticed.

These in-famous Kirlian Photography used by the Leaders of the Forums in trying to convince the herd it has no power and all that nonsense. As most folk are sheep so there we go, we do see the effects of the propaganda to keep folk chasing their tail. Works great as not many are playing with that energy but we do see a slight progress over the years, yes.

One of the most striking parts is the realization it's so dualistic , the most spiritual tool you will ever come across most probably on the one hand and on the other hand knowing the construction is performed in such a down to earth manner it cannot get more uncomplicated.

In the past I tried to talk to some folk in the resin club, as that is obviously where most are, especially to those who were doing gifting and tried to discuss my point of view, providing my results, my proof but the moment truth comes to the surface the shutters go down.

Haven't had any reply from them since, not bad eh ?

What did Bill Cooper often say, if you speak the truth you will piss off everybody ?
He was right about that one...

So , in short, don't expect too much approval or acclamation of any sort whatsoever.
Don't say you haven't been warned ☺
Get ready to become a silent horse.

There were a lot of reasons why I woke up,
actually I always was slightly awake, but not too much
But still not in that totally ignorant state as most are nowadays due to incessant propaganda.
But I started noticing the chemtrailing in the early days, here it started rather late to move into effect, must be around 2009 or so when it became evident what was going on as year after years things went downhill in that sense. More and more lines in the skies, whole summers blocked etc Before 2008 there was not so much geo-engineering going on here, a nice word for dumping chemicals on top of us for all sorts of purposes.

Maybe it was good to have no opinion or knowledge of the whole tools of light realm
So therefor I was not biased.
I had nothing to lose
Could be important , I don't exactly know that for sure, but I do suspect it to be part of it.
Of daring to go there in the first place.

People who go plasterite are usually , in my experience, very aware folk.
Real individuals, a very rare species.
Not always easy to deal with as they have such a strong inclination to truth.

They make up their own mind, don't follow the herd, can reason through things.
Propaganda does not "take" on them.
They don't fear anything.
They have nothing to prove.
Nothing to lose either
Nothing to sell
Nothing to buy either
Most , but not all, have a sort of "healing background" one way or another.
They are people who are fond of nature , who prefer the outdoor life.
You wont find many iPhones among them ☺
Most of them have pets
Most of them are into gardening and that sort of activities.
Most of them like to read books, you know, those paper bundle things with letters in it...
They do not attack, ridicule or manipulate other people who try to make a difference.
They are open minded and usually of more than average intelligence.
They are , for the most part, all gifters.
So usually you will not easily come across them in "social networking sites"

This is different as this is just an information source in a way to show the method.
That's all it really is.
